

mammography

Breast cancer affects many women in the United States. Each year, approximately 180,000 new cases of breast cancer will be found. About 44,000 women are expected to die from the disease.

We do not know how to prevent breast cancer, but if it is found early, women have more treatment options and a better chance for survival. Breast cancer can be found through an X-ray called a mammogram. Having regular mammograms is the best way to find breast cancer early.

All women who are age 40 or older should have regular screening mammograms. A screening mammogram is a mammogram that is given when a woman has no symptoms of abnormal breast tissue.

The following is a list of facilities that provide mammogram services in Western New York as of June 4, 2014:
